About Me

"I'm a dedicated business analyst with nearly a year's experience in bridging the gap between stakeholders and product teams.My proficiency in creating BRD (Business Requirement Documents) and flowcharts ensures that requirements are clearly defined and visualized for all involved parties. I excel at comprehending the overarching business vision for products and collaborating to translate that into tangible results. I'm eager to join an inspired team where I can contribute to problem-solving and elevate the end-user experience."
